

A Level Media Studies

Over the summer, we would like you to watch three films of the same genre; your choice can be based on what you enjoy. Please make brief notes on what makes the genre of the films clearly identifiable.

Film openings will form the focus for your A level Media Studies coursework.

For example, for horror films you might pick up on a night time setting, an unidentified killer, a death before the opening credits or the use of a jump scare.

In the first Media Studies lesson you will be expected to discuss your ideas.
